MISSION STATEMENT

J.A.M. is a non-denominational faith-based organization that came into existence to address the experience and development of youth during some of the most perilous times of our decade. The deterioration of family and societal values, loss of young lives, opportunities missed, and wasted potential. J.A.M. exists to compliment existing youth ministries, programs and services, irrespective of religious denomination or church affiliation.

Since its conception in 2001, J.A.M. has conducted programs in collaboration with, and/or in partnership with community agencies, clergy leadership, corporate philanthropic organizations, and institutions to support more than 250 churches and over 10,000 youth and young adults. J.A.M. also has established its own signature programs that draw from this population to support an average of more than 1,100 youth and young adults each year.

J.A.M. is awaiting its certification as a stand-alone 501(c)(3) and currently the Alliance of Male Empowerment Network, Inc. (AMEN), a 501(c)(3) not-for-profit agency certified in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, serves as its fiduciary agent.

How Your Money Is Spent

J.A.M. has always attempted to keep this program at a low cost to insure the experience is affordable to the youth and young adults. Oftentimes the activities are free of charge, however in those cases we solicit adult sponsors for a youth participant donation of $25 or less.

When we book national talent, we always seek those artists with a commitment to service and ministry, therefore fees are minimal and we cover travel, meals and lodging.

The J.A.M. Sessions are staffed by volunteers as is the Board of Directors. Minimal operating expenses include postage, printing and telecommunications.
